

ONCE UPON A TOWN

Help Build A Photo Archive

We need your help to build a photo archive of Ormskirk. Send in your photographs and help build a virtual museum and gallery and preserve history.

The Story Of Ormskirk

The story of Ormskirk is over 1,000 years old, the last 200 of have been recorded in a vast photographic archive. This archive currently only exists in your homes.

We would like you to scan in and send us your photographs of the town, it's people and key events to help us bring this archive to the public for the first time.

Pictures can be of people, places or events from any time in Ormskirk's history, from the beginning of photography right up until the present day.

West Lancashire - The Story of How the Pandemic Changed Our Lives

Do you have any photos of yourself or Ormskirk during the recent COVID-19 pandemic? Then send them in and build an important archive and record one of the most historically significant events of the recent past so that future generations can understand what it was like to live through.

Where To Find Old Photographs

Many people have collections of old photographs stashed away in their attics or lost at the back of that cupboard that no one goes in any more.

Perhaps an older friend or relative has a collection of photographs that you could help them digitise.

Useful Links

How to date old family photos

Advice on how to digitise your old photographs

Illustration: Orme by Maxine Lee-Mackie

Submit your photographs along with a description and as much information as you can provide at onceuponatownormskirk.co.uk